

National Threshers Association's 71st Reunion To Feature Baker And International Harvester

Antique Machinery Show Will Be Held June 25 – 28 At Fulton County Fairgrounds

Wauseon, OH – The 71st Annual National Threshers Association Reunion, the oldest event of its type worldwide, will be held Thursday, June 25, through Sunday, June 28, at the Fulton County Fairgrounds north of Wauseon, OH. Featured at this year's show will be A.D. Baker steam engines, tractors and related equipment, which were produced in nearby Swanton, OH. International Harvester tractors and equipment will also be spotlighted.

The 2015 event is expected to draw several thousand visitors from around the globe to see dozens of steam traction engines – predecessors to today's farm tractors – in addition to hundreds of antique tractors and gas engines.

Daily demonstrations at this year's show include grain threshing; sawmill, shingle mill and veneer mill operations; plowing; horsepower testing; and machinery parades with covered grandstand seating for spectators. Steam engine spark shows are scheduled for Friday and Saturday after dark, while musical entertainment, a fiddlers' contest, kiddie tractor pull, food concessions and flea market booths are among the other highlights.

One-day admission is $5, and a four-day membership is $10. Children 12 and under are free with an adult admission. Old Timer's Day admission, on Thursday, June 25, is $2 for those 65 and older.

For more information, including on-site camping details, visit <http://www.NationalThreshers.com>.

-END-

Photo caption:

Thousands of antique machinery enthusiasts will gather at the Fulton County Fairgrounds in Wauseon, OH, for the 71st Annual Reunion of the National Threshers Association, June 25-28. Featured at this year's show will be equipment from A.D. Baker, a Swanton, OH-based company that manufactured steam engines like the one shown here, along with gas tractors and other equipment.

If you'd like more information...

Editors and Communication Directors...If you'd like to attend this year's show, please contact Steve Lashaway, NTA President, by emailing to lashaway@centurylink.net. Complimentary press passes can be arranged for you and a photographer, videographer or sound technician. Steve can also offer contact names of potential interview subjects – before, during or after the show – including people in your specific coverage area, if available.